

Certified Licensed Applicator (CLA) Process

- There are two separate license classifications:
 - SPF Roof System
 - RCR Roof System

CLA must indicate on the application which classification they are applying for or if they are applying for both. Either classification has a similar process except in order to qualify for the SPF classification, CLA must exhibit proper employee training since there are exposure concerns when working with SPF chemicals. The only recognized certification program at this time is the SPFA training program. CLA must be able to exhibit that all workers on any SPF project have a SPFA Certification Card. PM does reserve the right to acknowledge other programs as they become available.
